PRINCETON, Jan. 21.—Princeton and Cornell will not meet in football next year as was rumored, according to an announce ment by B. D. McClave, manager of the Princeton football team. For some time t looked as though the negotiations between ful, but it was decided to-day by the Prince ful, but it was decided to-day by the Princeton management that it would be impossible to arrange for a Cornell game next year.
The reasons given for this are that the Tiger's schedule is already so hard that it would be unwise to add another game, which would tax the strength of the team as one with Cornell would. It was decided that it would be unfair to Dartmouth to drop her in favor of Cornell, and the Navy,
